Description

RMG is an award-winning headhunting consultancy with a difference.

We don't just aim to find exceptional personnel: we look for talented individuals who'll make a lasting difference and add value to each of our clients' businesses.

Working across a range of sectors, on both a national and international level, our team of dedicated consultants pride themselves on having the specialist knowledge and experience needed to find the right people, every time. Of course, this success also relies on a thorough appreciation of each client's business, something we go out of our way to achieve.

Many clients regard us as a vital part of their business strategy, exemplified by the fact that several clients have continually retained our services for over a decade.

"The search for outstandingly talented people who deliver lasting impact and added financial value for our clients, starts and ends with RMG - recruitment, talent acquisition specialists and executive headhunters"

Executive Headhunting within the Healthcare sector

looking to grow your business in international markets?

In recent times we've seen real growth in the export of medical devices and healthcare products.

Excellent support is available from the likes of UKTI and there are a number of specialist export events and conferences, such as Medica and Arab Health.

Export is still a niche area and there is a genuine shortage of talent and skills in this field. With the right talent, we can ensure continued growth of your business and success in international markets through export.

Engage RMG as your specialist headhunter - as an award-winning executive search business, not only do we have the knowledge of these people, to really grow your business, we've repeatedly delivered against a number of challenging international and export briefs, which has led to us building many partnerships of significant longevity and an enviable reputation for service delivery.

RMGs knowledge and experience, built over the last 21 years, allows us to identify highly talented people who will add impact and strategic long-term value to your business.
